

An Open Letter to the World Leaders and Israel

Aiman Taiebounne

Palestine is dying
And the so-called world-leaders are . . . watching.

Palestine is dying
And the so -called world-leaders are . . . observing:

From their ivory towers,
With caution,
Eager to maintain their private interests
At the expense of the death of children,
As that is all they care about.

Palestine is dying
And the entire world is watching:
How western democracy is only an illusion
And how the cause for human rights
Is only the forefront
Of a system of exploitation and manipulation,
Like how mafias keep 'clean' businesses
To justify their blood-covered earnings.

These, my friends, are the real terrorists.
They have sown the seed of terror in the hearts of Palestinians,
Terrorized them to the bone,
And then condemned them for what they became,
Which they themselves had sown in them!

These, my friends, are the real terrorists.
They launder their blood-stained money under the illusion of democracy
And then they condemn
Others for violence
Which they themselves had instilled in them!

I must tell the world-leaders
And Israel, then,
That they may have just created another
“terrorist,”
For no righteous man can stand
And watch
This horror unfold
And furthermore
Justify it to himself
Within some theory of the cosmos
To reconcile it with their existing schemas of the world.

There is only so much stoicism in us, after all.

Mark this,
Then,
As my letter to the so-called world-leaders and Israel:

Palestine is dying
And your institutions are watching,
Doing nothing,
At the expense of helpless men, women, and children.
Tell them,
Tell them they may have just created another “terrorist” –
In me,
In me.

AIMAN TAIEBOUNE is a poet from Tetouan, Morocco. He holds a BA in English Language and Literature as well as an MA in English Literature and the History of Ideas, both from Abdelmalek Essaâd University, Tetouan, Morocco. He has published poetry previously in Afanine magazine, headquartered in Casablanca, Morocco. He is an English teacher, an avid reader, and a genuine lover of everything that has to do with thought and wisdom.